Problem Statement

The user needs a concise online portfolio to serve as a professional resume and showcase their skills and projects. The goal is to present their work as a frontend developer in a clear, accessible, and organized format to attract potential employers or clients.

Project overview

A personal portfolio website for Syed Ali Fathima, showcasing their frontend development and design skills to potential employers and clients.

END USERS

☆ Potential employers or recruiters looking to hire a frontend developer.

☆ Clients seeking a web developer for their projects.

☆ Other developers interested in their work or looking for inspiration.

TOOLS AND TECHNOLOGIES

》 HTML5 : Provides the semantic structure and content of the web page.

》 CSS3 : Handles the styling, layout, and responsiveness of the page.

》 JavaScript : Used for interactive features, specifically the navigation bar's hamburger menu functionality.

Portfolio Design and Layout

A single-page design with clear sections: an intro (Hero), a personal bio (About Me), a project showcase (Projects), a contact form (Contact Me), and a footer.

FEATURES AND FUNCTIONALITIES

■ Responsive Navigation: The navigation bar adapts for smaller screens using a hamburger menu icon (≡).

■ Project Showcase: A grid layout effectively presents the "Builded responsive portfolio," "Quiz App," and "Task Manager" projects.

■ Contact Form: A functional form allows visitors to send messages.

■ Clear Call to Action: The "Send" button on the contact form encourages user engagement.
